West Windsor Arts Council presents
HomeFront: Expressions of ArtSpace

Running from July 15 through September 6, 2019, the West Windsor Arts Council presents "HomeFront: Expressions of ArtSpace Exhibition." The art on display varies between original drawings and paintings created by the wonderfully talented artists of HomeFront’s ArtSpace. ArtSpace is an innovative therapeutic art program of Homefront, whose mission is to end homelessness in Central NJ by harnessing the caring, resources, and expertise of the community. Using art as a tool to improve physical, mental, and emotional well being, ArtSpace builds self-confidence and nourishes the spirit of its families. The Expressions of ArtSpace Exhibition will feature works of art created by the participants of this exceptional program.

Every human needs an outlet of expression that does not limit, but allows for us to discover new ways of thinking and helps us to see ourselves in new, beautiful ways.

An opening reception will be held on Sunday July 21, 2019 from 4 - 6 p.m. Please visit westwindsorarts.org for more information.

Now on Exhibit at the Morven Museum — "New Jersey Baseball: From the Cradle to the Major Leagues"

"New Jersey Baseball: From the Cradle to the Major Leagues," is now on exhibit at the Morven Museum & Gardens until October 27, 2019. This exhibition tells the story of the state’s important role in the history of early organized baseball through artifacts, text, images and other visuals. It describes the nature of the first New Jersey baseball clubs, the differences between 19th century baseball and the modern game, and covers areas of special interest such as the African-American experience and women’s participation. Within this exhibit are also interactives that offer educational opportunities as well as demonstrations with hands-on experiences.

Morven has also published a companion book, which will bring the story of early New Jersey baseball to a wider audience and allow for more in-depth understanding.

For more information, visit morven.org.
Local Arts and History Grant Deadline Approaches

Don't forget the FY2020 application deadline to submit either the Local Arts Program (LAP) or History Grant is July 12. The Mercer County Senior Art Show Is Scheduled For July 17 – August 9

The Mercer County Division of Culture and Heritage along with the Office on Aging are gearing up for the annual Mercer County Senior Art Show. The show, which is scheduled from July 17 through August 9 at the Meadow Lakes Retirement Community in East Windsor, is open to all Mercer County residents 60 or older. All submissions must be the original work of the applicant, created within the last three years, and not previously entered in a Mercer County Senior Art Show or the State Senior Art Show. Applicants may submit one piece of art in any of the following categories: acrylic, craft, digital imagery, drawing, mixed media, oil, pastel, photography, print, sculpture, and watercolor. The registration deadline is July 12. For more information, please contact the Division of Culture & Heritage at (609) 989-6899 or register online at mercercounty.org/departments/culture-and-heritage/senior-art-show. We look forward to another year of creative competition from the artists who make Mercer County proud. Hope to see you at the show!

Trent House Holds its Annual Ice Cream Social

Join The 1719 William Trent House on July 20 at 1p.m. for their Annual Ice Cream Social & Colonial Military Encampment. Relax at their picnic tables, or bring a blanket and lounge on the lawn. Their will be a complimentary open house of the Trent House Museum, a question and answer session from Colonial Re-Enactors as well as the museum's outdoor sculpture exhibition, "The Immigrant Experience." No reservations required and plenty of free parking. The Trent House is located at 15 Market St, Trenton. For more information visit williamtrenthouse.org.

New Jersey State Museum Exhibits "Many Inspired Steps"

The New Jersey State Museum’s “Many Inspired Steps” commemorates the 50th anniversary of the Apollo 11 moon landing that took place on July 21, 1969. Astronaut Neil Armstrong became the first human to set foot on the Moon with the now famous words: “That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind.” Neil Armstrong’s “one small step” was just the crowning accomplishment of an endeavor that goes back centuries. Many Inspired Steps tells the story of that endeavor. Currently on view through November 10, the exhibition uses a variety of objects and images to examine the space race between the United States and the Soviet Union, the pioneers of space travel — including New Jersey born astronaut and Apollo 11 member Buzz Aldrin — and other state connections to both the landing and the space program. The voyage to the moon is also explored by the new planetarium show “CapCOM Go!,” a documentary showcasing highlights of the Apollo program and the engineering and design that made space travel possible. The New Jersey State Museum is located at 205 West State Street, Trenton. Admission is free; donations requested. For more information, call/visit 609-292-5420 / statemuseumnj.gov.
Dear Friends,

Now that summer has arrived, I hope you take the opportunity to check out all that Mercer County has to offer during the coming months. From art exhibits to theater to outdoor concerts and so much more, this edition of the Culture & Heritage newsletter is packed with events and activities from now through September.

Consider viewing the West Windsor Arts Council’s exhibition featuring original drawings and paintings created by the talented artists of HomeFront’s innovative therapeutic art program; taking part in the annual Mercer County Senior Art Show if you’re a County resident 60 or older; or visiting the New Jersey State Museum and its exhibit commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Apollo 11 moon landing. And be sure to read about the John Rogers House, located in Mercer County Park, which was constructed way back in the mid-18th century.

I wish everyone a relaxing and safe summer, and hope that you enjoy exploring our great County and its rich assortment of cultural offerings.

Sincerely,

Brian M. Hughes
County Executive

In celebration of 25 years of service to the home gardeners of Mercer County, the Rutgers Master Gardeners of Mercer County are presenting a summer series of Saturday morning talks and demonstrations, “Hands-on in the Garden,” at Mercer Educational Gardens (MEG), located at 431 A Federal City Road in Pennington, adjacent to the Mercer County Stables. The series is free and open to the public. Each program in the series will begin at 10:30 a.m., run 60-90 minutes, and feature one of the display gardens, with a focus on improving soil, proper sitting and watering practices, and maintenance. These programs are all outside and some walking may be involved. Attendees are encouraged to bring their own water, sun protection, insect repellent, and seating, if needed. For more information on the series, visit mgofmc.org or contact Horticulturist Margaret Pickoff at mpickoff@mercercounty.org or (609) 989-6830.

The schedule is as follows: July 13, Cottage Garden Plants; July 27, Attracting Butterflies Home; Aug. 3, Butterfly Trail at MEG; Aug. 10, Composting and Aug. 24, Creating Garden Drama with Annual Plants. Pre-register at programs@mgofmc.org.

Rutgers Master Gardeners of Mercer County is a volunteer educational outreach program of Rutgers Cooperative Extension, 1440 Parkside Avenue, Ewing, NJ. Master Gardeners take part in many volunteer programs throughout the county, and answer home horticulture questions through the Rutgers Master Gardener Helpline, (609) 989-6853, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. For more information on the Master Gardener program, the Mercer Educational Gardens, or other Extension educational programs, contact Rutgers Cooperative Extension at (609) 989-6830 or visit the Master Gardeners of Mercer County website at mgofmc.org.

New York: October 20, Helen Frankenthaler Prints: Seven Types of Ambiguity, Princeton University Art Museum, celebrates the generous gift of ten prints and five related trial proofs from the Helen Frankenthaler Foundation to the Princeton University Art Museum, spanning five decades and more than a dozen distinct technical processes, these works represent the continuous and generative role of printmaking in Frankenthaler’s oeuvre while also tracing the ascendance of the American Print Renaissance and the emergence of a critical discourse for abstraction in the latter half of the twentieth century. Featuring approximately fifty works in total, the exhibition draws the prints from the Foundation’s gift into conversation with additional works variously focusing on Frankenthaler’s compositional language, working process, collaborations of place, and historical references, revealing the vitality of the artist’s work in prints throughout her remarkable career. Lectures

July 1, The Space Race, Mercer County Library, Robbinsville Branch, 42 Robbinsville-Allentown Road, Robbinsville, 7pm. Come relive the dramatic “Space Race” from the pioneering Mercury & Gemini flights, to the Apollo 11 moon landing, to other scientific missions that followed. Presented by Kevin Woyce, lecturer, author, and photographer.

July 3, Navigating the New Jersey Sky: How We Can Do Astronomy in Our Backyards and Try to Make Sense of It All! Mercer County Library, Hickory Corner Branch, 139 Hickory Corner Road, East Windsor, 7pm. Erin Flowers, a PhD student in the Princeton University Astrophysics Department, will talk about how to navigate the summer sky, the upcoming astronomical events, and what it’s like to be an astrophysicist! Registration begins on June 22. Register online at www.mcl.org (Adult Programs), or call 609-448-0957.

July 9, The Space Race: 1957-1975, Mercer County Library, Ewing Branch, 61 Street School Road, Ewing, 7pm. To celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Apollo 11 Moon landing on July 20, 1969, join author, photographer and lecturer Kevin Woyce for a presentation packed with historic photographs and vintage concept art. Relive the dramatic “Space Race,” from the pioneering Mercury and Gemini flights to the first Apollo Moon landings and the lesser-known scientific missions that followed. Sponsored by the Friends of the Library. Registration required. Call 609-882-3148.

July 15, The Last Cause - How the South Saw the Civil War, Mercer County Library, West Windsor Branch, 333 North Post Road, Princeton Junction, 7pm. The Last Cause was a mythology created by Confederates to justify their catastrophic defeat and establish themselves as victims of Northern aggression. It was based on dishonest and badly distorted historical claims. It is still widely believed today. Presenter Mark A. Mossop reveals how the South were the true aggressors who created a racist, frequently violent culture before, during and after the Civil War, and shows how Hollywood and the TV industry contributed to the South's mythology. Sponsored by the Friends of the West Windsor Library.

The John Rogers house, located in Mercer County Park, West Windsor, Mercer County, was constructed in the mid-18th century and derives its name from John Rogers, Jr., its earliest known occupant. Windsor Township, organized in 1750, was part of Middlesex County until it was set off to Mercer County in 1838. At the time when the Rogers house was constructed, Windsor Township was sparsely populated and largely agrarian in nature. Woodward and Hageman’s History of Burlington and Mercer Counties cited the township as having fertile soil, very suitable for the cultivation of grains.

Although his genealogy remains somewhat unclear, John Rogers, Jr. was likely the son of an elder John Rogers who is known to have passed away in 1769 and to have lived in Windsor Township on property which was situated not far from the John Rogers House. Thus the house currently being studied should perhaps more properly be termed the John Rogers, Jr. House. Title research, although somewhat inconclusive, seems to indicate that the house stands on one of several parcels of land on the south side of the Assunpink Creek that were purchased by Robert Rogers, Matthew Rogers and Rogers, Jr.’s property was bounded by the Assunpink River on the north, the Old Post Road towards the east and extended southwardly along a portion of Robert’s land. It is yet to be determined whether the house is situated on the land the brothers purchased from William and John Hutchinson or on the tract purchased from John and William Burnett. Neither the deed given to John Rogers, Jr. by his brothers in 1757 nor any of the earlier deeds referenced above noted the existence of a messuage on the property.

A pattern brickwork date on the eastern gable has been alternatively interpreted as reading either “1751” or “1761.” If the date in the gable reads 1751 then the house was constructed during the period in which the property was jointly held by the Rogers brothers, but if the date reads 1761 then the building was constructed soon after John Rogers came into sole possession of the property. The lower portions of the numerals extend underneath the full return of the cornice of the closed gable indicating that the closed gable was a later modification to the building’s design.
